Workers' Psychological Support Service

A free service providing support and guidance to workers in times of need

We listen to and connect workers to the right community services depending on your circumstances.

Our service is available to all Queensland workers who have been psychologically injured through work, or who have developed a mental health issue arising from the impact of a physical workplace injury.

You do not need a referral to use our service.

When you contact us, you will be supported by a qualified social worker who can connect you to and make referrals to other specialist services such as:

- counselling
- housing assistance
- financial advice, or
- other services.

We are accessible through:

- Toll-free phone service
- Email, or
- Online through our website

Any information you share with us will remain confidential and handled professionally.

We are an independent service for all Queenslander experiencing a work-related psychological injury.
